Residents' association Bosweide has submitted its opinion on the extension of the A4

Until June the 18th, views regarding the extension of the A4 could be submitted to the government. The Bosweide residents' association has submitted a view that focuses on noise pollution and the lack of protection against it. The effects on air quality are also discussed. The municipality of The Hague has submitted a very extensive view, just like the municipality of Voorschoten. The Hague has many comments on the expansion plans of Rijkswaterstaat. We are very pleased that the Municipality of The Hague was willing to share their views with us. At least 1 opinion has also been submitted by a resident of Bosweide, which focuses more on air quality. All these views will hopefully contribute to offering better protection against the nuisance coming of the A4. A resident of Bosweide, who lives directly at the noise barrier, recently reported regularly measuring 90db outside of his house, which is far above the permitted limit.

Making the shopping centre of Ypenburg greener

Last Wednesday, volunteers were in the Ypenburg shopping centre from 13:00 to 17:00 to talk to residents about their ideas for upgrading of the shopping centre to a greener area. Residents who would like to give their opinion can fill in the survey below online. The survey consists of three questions. A design is made based on all ideas. As soon as there is a preliminary design, this will also be presented to the residents.

Click on this link to complete the survey: <https://nl.surveymonkey.com/r/RWXND6Z>

If people have questions or want to join the working group on the upgrading of the Ypenburg shopping centre, they can send an email to nina.ruijer@denhaag.nl.

Municipality removes graffiti

The photos below show that the municipality removed graffiti from the Postenkade. An attentive resident probably called or wrote the municipality who then sent a cleaning company. The fastest way to notify the city of such matters is to call 14-070.

General Members' Meeting Bosweide was on Zoom on the 24th of June

The GMM was held via zoom on June the 24th. This was a new experience for the board members and the participating members. It all worked fine. The presentations were held with slides and were easy to follow. Voting could be done with thumbs. There was a lot of interest in the presentations of the Renewable Warmth Ypenburg Foundation (HWY). The minutes of the GMM are attached.

Neighbourhood BBQ on September 5

As the big lustrum party has been postponed to next summer, the annual local neighbourhood BBQs will be held this year on Saturday, September 5. In contrast to previous years, there will be no support for the event from the residents' association. So, no tables and chairs will be made available, nor will there be a traveling clown or musical duck car. The residents will this year, due to the corona situation, have to arrange everything themselves. For example, chairs and tables can be rented from Rozema. By at least proposing a date, we hope to increase the chance that people will continue with the annual BBQ.

Delimiting of the wadi (green roadside)

In the previous newsletter, it was reported that the municipality had offered to make poles available to the residents of Bosweide in order to delimit the wadis. The demarcated wadi should be maintained by the resident who placed the posts. Several e-mails came in after that message asking for those posts or making comments, for example about who would be responsible if someone collided with such a post and suffered damage. When inquiring with the municipality, it was announced that they were still selecting the correct posts, which means that it may take a while before the posts are available. The preference seemed to be flexible posts made of plastic. That would of course immediately solve the problem of collisions, or at least the problem that a collision could lead to damage. If there are posts available, we will let you know, but for now we have to continue with our own posts.

Moisture spots due to construction fault of the gutter

The following message from a Bosweide resident came in this week:

A few weeks ago, after the storm, I discovered a large damp spot in the attic. I then called the insurance company for an investigation.

Their finding is that the damp spot is not a direct result of the storm, but that there may be a construction fault in the gutter.

As a result, the roof tiles do not fit well with the gutter and water comes in if it rains hard in a certain wind direction.

The insurer has indicated that it will not reimburse this repair.

Has anyone ever heard of this problem? If anyone knows about this, please email it to the secretariat.

Bicycle bridge opened

The long-awaited bicycle bridge from Bosweide to de Vliet was finally opened last Thursday. The new cycle route has been used a lot from the start. There is an exit close to Drievliet to turn to Drievliet or the beginning of the Rotterdamsebaan. The connection to the Westvlietweg is somewhat disappointing. Here is a traffic light that makes the cyclist wait a relatively long time to cross to the bicycle path along the Westvlietweg. The roundabout on sound protection hill at Bosweide raises many questions. The roundabout gives the impression that there will be a 4th connection to this roundabout, which could only be a cycle path over the noise barrier along TNO to the Valutapad. A bicycle path along this route is a long-cherished wish of many Bosweide residents and would be a beautiful and convenient route. This cycle route was recently also suggested in a plan of the municipality of The Hague. However, when asking the City Director of Ypenburg-Leidschenveen, Petra Sevinga, she appeared to be unfamiliar with a plan to build a new bicycle path along TNO.

The attached link shows the new bridge, but also shows how the noise enters Bosweide through the opening at the bicycle bridge:

Neighbourhood Prevention Team (BPT) is looking for new members

The BPT is looking for reinforcement in order to be able to conduct surveillances more often. The BPT has been very successful lately. The young people hanging out at the Lyceum Ypenburg parking lot in the evening and at night who were suspected of dealing drugs have been addressed so often by the BPT team that they seem to have to gone elsewhere, since they have not been seen lately. The BPT makes an important contribution to the safety in Bosweide. All BPT members receive their own jacket and flashlight. You are free to choose the frequency with which you will make your rounds. Even only once per month is possible, but more often as well off course. The surveillance rounds are normally during the day. Registration as new member or information is via bpt.bosweide@ypenburg.nu.
